

Leading L&D

ELE Leader Members test-drive Josh Bersin Academy

Virtual Learning Leadership Summit (Zoom Room 2)

Show Details

ELE would like to recruit members to create a 5-week cohort to experience semi-synchronous collaborative learning. As learning professionals, we're faced with a largely new landscape and increasing demand for our work, as organizations begin to see why learning is now a business imperative. The Leading L&D Program by Nomadic Learning explores these changes and offers tools for developing new strategies that align with what both employees and organizations need to thrive. In the Leading L&D program, learners will get hands-on, practical guidance and time-tested wisdom from peers, and will explore together:

1. What is the benefit of learning in cohorts rather than individually?
2. How can L&D serve as a response to this period of ongoing uncertainty?
3. What are the benefits of shifting our thinking away from learning systems and toward a culture of learning?
4. How can we measure the effectiveness of learning with clear, impactful data?

Pre-read: Cohort-Based Learning at Scale - Eight Principles for Success (Nomadic, 2022)

Leaders

 Laura Clark Leader
 Vice President - Josh Bersin Academy
 Nomadic Learning

 Cian Hegarty Leader
 Senior Manager
 Nomadic Learning

Producers

 Richard Busby Influencer
 Director, Project Management Office
 IMSA

Expert Panel:

Laura Clark, VP Sales of Josh Bersin Academy.

Cian Hegarty, Sr. Marketing Manager for Nomadic Learning.

Amanda Xido, Editor in Chief for Nomadic Learning.

Richard Busby, Director IMSA.EDU (Producer).

Highlights from Expert Panel:

Cohort-based learning is one of the buzziest topics in L&D. Dive into the details of why this social, collaborative learning model is so effective. (One of them will likely surprise you.)

We're celebrating three successful years of the Josh Bersin Academy, our cohort-based HR capability academy. Learn about this global learning community of HR professionals, and how it's changing the field today.

What's the relationship between user experience and learner engagement? Dive into tips for creating a learner experience that fosters great learner engagement, including creating a learning platform that captures and keeps learners' attention and making sure learners feel empowered along the way.