1. Prelude – Mediterranean Mythology
   The Female as Physis
   Examples in Myth: Ishtar, Aphrodite, Demeter
   Views of Hysteria

2. Classical Philosophy
   Greek “One Sex” Theory
   Plato and Essentialist Views of the Female Body
   Aristotle and Gendered Views of Form and Matter
   Aristotle and Epigenetic Reproduction
   Epicurean Views of Sex

3. Medieval Views of the Feminine
   Role of Christian Revelation in the Medieval University
   Links to Classical Categories of Gender – Aristotle
   “One Sex” Theory Maintained
   Views of Witchcraft

4. The Renaissance: Change ... and Continuity
   Vesalius, Anatomy, and the “One Sex” Model
   Views of Nature and Natural Magic

5. Science and the “Death of Nature”
   Mechanical Philosophy and Passive Matter
   Harvey and Aristotle
   Microscopy and Generation
   “The Ovary of Eve” – Ovism and Animaculism

6. Enlightenment Science
   Views of Generation and Sex
   Essentialist Views of Female Mind
   Female Practitioners in Science – Links between Ideology and Opportunity

7. Hysteria in the 19th Century
   Essentialist Practice in Medicine
   Charcot, Freud, and Feminine Desire
   Links to Dominant Social Views

8. Gender and the Iconography of 20th Century Science
   Popular perceptions and Images: Books, Products, Film
   Visibility of Female Practitioners: 1900-1970
   Visibility of Female Practitioners: 1970-2000
   Relationships between Perception and Opportunity